Dear Parents,

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Dear Year 6 Teacher: Please excuse Miss 11's lateness, which occurred because the cat stole the ham intended for the sandwiches for the school lunches this morning. Whilst chasing the cat, we lost track of the time.

Dear Year 4 Teacher: Thank you for the note advising that Master Muddy did not hand in his homework. He left it at home because the cat that stole the ham for the school lunches hid under his bag. When his little brother lifted up the bag, everything fell out. Then his father saw what time it was and hustled them all to the car. Master Muddy didn't notice the books that fell under the bed.

Dear Year 2 Teacher: Please excuse Miss Priss from writing today as she caught the cat that stole the ham for the school lunches yesterday, and it scratched her. She can't hold a pencil today. Also please excuse the state of her reading book. I threw it at the cat.

Dear Kindergarten Teacher: Please overlook the fact that Scamp is wearing tartan boxer shorts instead of school uniform. His school shorts were drying near the oven (because the dryer has broken down) and they became scorched when we were chasing the cat that stole the ham for the school lunches. Please excuse the lack of pictures in his sounds book. This has nothing to do with the cat. It is simply because we could not find a picture of a unicorn and he wouldn't accept the pictures of the umbrella, underwear, UFOs and other U sounds which we could find.

Dear Canteen Mum: Please let the Kaotic Kottage Krowd order their lunches today. The cat stole the ham for the week's lunches and the oven was being used for drying shorts.

Dear Student Welfare Coordinator: Thank you for the note advising that it would be most unhygienic to use the ham that the cat stole even if we could get it back. As it was in plastic, I thought we could salvage some of it. In any case, we thought it was bad for the cat to think it could get away with stealing ham.

Dear Other Mother: Yes, it would have been easier all round if we had shut the cat outside while I was making the lunches. However, that would have meant shutting Master Muddy outside as well, as he was completing his science project, trying to observe the exact time of sunrise.

Dear RSPCA: Nobody hit the cat!!

NO MATTER HOW CRAZY IT SOUNDS, REMEMBER TO WRITE A NOTE!
TEACHERS WILL BELIEVE IT!

JOIN THE P&C COMMITTEE TODAY!

The P&C Committee has a number of roles, which also includes organising social functions that encourage a sense of community within the school and raising money for school projects in fun ways. This allows parents to feel involved in the school without feeling over-burdened. This is also a great way to meet other parents and make new friends. Therefore, we would like to welcome the new and current parents who would like to join the Committee.

The P&C Committee will have its first meeting on Friday, 6 March at 9am. Please check the newsletter for details. For more information and to see how you can contribute to the Committee please contact the school Office 9486 3266 or Email: PC@alexander.nsw.edu.au

Research indicates that parental involvement enriches your child's experience with their school... So become involved today!
